HAAUS 6

HAAUS INTERIOR DESIGN

HAAUS 6 is a modern coastal family home that blends clean architectural lines with warm textures, using a mix of stone, white cladding, and timber-look aluminium battens. Designed for relaxed beachside living, it combines style, durability, and low-maintenance materials to create a refined yet practical home.

Oak & Orange

SOUTH WEST ROCKS

Oak & Orange's Seaside Sanctuary is a coastal holiday home that blends classic beachside style with a modern Mediterranean feel. Designed for both privacy and street appeal, it uses timber-look aluminium battens throughout fencing and entry features to create a warm, relaxed aesthetic while ensuring durability in a harsh seaside environment.

DNA OF DESIGN

The DNA of Design 'House 02' project transforms an outdated Gold Coast home into a modern coastal retreat, featuring a floating DecoDeck® aluminium deck that enhances outdoor living while offering durability, low maintenance, and a timber-look finish that complements the home's neutral design and pool area.

EXPERT RENO TIPS

Renovating is a huge project and a giant commitment for any homeowner. We've compiled some top reno tips from a team of experts to help make the process just that little bit easier.

DESIGN FOR THE WHOLE LOOK.

Veronica - The Builders Wife
& King Homes NSW.

“(We) extended the DecoClad cladding across the garage door, façade and entry allowed us to create a seamless, architectural look rather than a single isolated feature. By continuing the material across multiple elements of the façade, it connects the home and draws the eye toward the entry.”

LIVE IN A SPACE BEFORE YOU RENOVATE IT

Shannon Vos - VOS Creative +
2014 'The Block' Winner

Shannon believes you need to live in a space before you renovate it. “You need to understand the floor plan and the way the house flows. I recommend living in a house for at least 6-12 months to get a good idea and experience the seasons before you start renovating.”

MAKE PLANNING AND RESEARCH YOUR BEST FRIEND

Stuart Jones - Residential Sales
DECO Australia

Plan, plan, plan. I know it can feel a bit tedious, but trust me—it's worth it. It's the best way to cover all your bases, keep the budget in check, and avoid any nasty surprises. Putting in the effort upfront makes the whole renovation run smoother and helps keep everything on track time-wise.
